Requirements

Students must implement a rasial/gender recognition application based on the principles used in face recognition. The application can be written in Java or C/C++.